

Eastern Podiatry Laboratory (EPL) was formed in 1973 by Thomas M. McGuigan, DPM. Dr. McGuigan recognized that there was a need for a small to medium size laboratory on the East Coast to fill the needs of the podiatry community. EPL emerged as a technically sophisticated laboratory. A technical staff works in small units and serves a specific group of offices. We feel this effort results in a very personalized service to the podiatrist.

EPL has developed a full line of orthotic devices. The professional staff and the technical staff have been trained to assist the podiatrist with personalized consultation and services.
